How to make a HOME INVENTORY

Creating a home inventory has never been easier or quicker, and yet many people after a disaster find themselves piecing together the information from memory as part of the insurance claims process. You can save yourself the added stress if you ever need to file a claim by taking 10 minutes to complete a home inventory today.

Use your smartphone to take photos or videos of the interior and exterior of your home. Don't forget your garage or shed.

Make sure to document all of your belongings, including furniture, appliances, clothes, lawn equipment, and anything else of value.

Make note of special items, such as expensive artwork, jewelry, antiques, high-end furnishings, or collectibles.

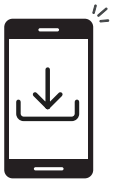

In the video, describe, in detail, the items in each room, drawer and closet.

Take a picture of and/or save receipts for big purchases (such as furniture, electronics, or appliances)

Save your inventory digitally where you can easily retrieve it, like the cloud, or email a copy to yourself.

You can also check if your insurer has an app to help their policyholders create a home inventory.
